

Quality Products Make a Difference

The old adage “you get what you pay for” is especially true when it comes to home improvement products. While you don’t need to spend top dollar for roofing, siding, windows, and gutters, investing in quality products and installation means you won’t have to repeat the same job in the near future.

“Trying to do a home improvement project on your own can be an expensive endeavor,” noted Mike Neal of Neal’s Custom Exteriors. “First, you are spending a lot of your valuable time. Second, as a consumer, you may not be able to have access to types of quality products that a contractor can purchase at a lower rate, due to the volume of purchasing a contractor does every year.”

Roofing products from companies like Malarkey have been thoroughly tested and include warranties. Siding companies such as Norandex offer wood-like looks that hold color over time, eliminating the need for costly and time-consuming painting projects. Windows from companies like WeatherLok can reduce heating and cooling costs and even provide sun protection to prevent carpet and furniture fading. Gutters like those manufactured by E-Z Gutter are made of steel and can withstand the weight of snow and debris, helping you avoid inconvenient emergency gutter repairs. Gutter protection systems like Clean Sweep prevent clogged gutters and the potential danger of cleaning gutters.

A reputable, licensed, and insured contractor can work with you to make your life easier and to lower the cost of home improvements. With access to quality products and the skills to install them properly, you can have premium improvements at an affordable cost.
